Tribulation Rising: The Globalists Need a War

By Jan Markell

We do not know where the Russia/Ukraine conflict is heading in Eastern Europe. In a worse-case scenario, Russia will try to seize much of its old territory. The Baltics are in the bear's sites, as well as Poland, Romania, and Hungary. And while Ukraine has fought the good fight and, she cannot overpower Putin's military.

The conflict could also abruptly end before this periodical hits your mail box. Russia is paying an economic price that is staggering. But most analysts feel Russia will do to Ukraine what they did to Aleppo, Syria: Virtually wipe her off the map.

Volodymyr Zelensky and Vladimir Putin

The Bear Is Out of Hibernation

Ronald Reagan, in his "peace through strength", forced the Russian bear into hibernation years ago. Not any longer. He's come out of his den, he's angry, and he's a ruthless destroyer.

Society became fear-based two years ago with the pandemic, which opened the door for government overreach and dependence on government. More and more, the world longs for a governmental leader, a Mr. Fix-It. Right now, such a person is not prominent. He may be obscure at this time, but he is waiting in the wings.

Not one world capital can boast of a successful leader. That is why this headline captivated my attention, posted to Fox News, digital: "Saving Ukraine: Looking for a World Leader to Stand Up."

Weapons of Mass Distraction?

Some feel this conflict is a "weapon of mass distraction" planned by the World Economic Forum and George Soros. They need a constant crisis. They instigated a "plandemic" and now have orchestrated a war, all to destabilize. America and capitalism must be taken down for a new world order to rise.

Ukraine's President Zelensky is a lackey of the World Economic Forum, and in his heart, may have as much loyalty to this globalist outfit and a globalist mentality as he does for his home country. He's not the folk hero he's being painted as.

On March 15, a popular new song was released about Zelensky titled, "Can One Man Save the World?" While we must be careful about trying to name the Antichrist, it is clear that this man is drawing international attention, with aspirations given to him as a global leader.

Add to that, he is European, Jewish, and rose from obscurity. It would be safe to say he could be another "type" of the Antichrist as the true Antichrist will have these characteristics. A European and Jewish heritage is debated, but this writer believes the real Antichrist will have those identifying markers.

While even the Bible refers to the rise of global government, or a new world order for the very last days, Mr. Putin is not a part of this movement. He wants to see Russia's glory days come back and considers the efforts of Klaus Schwab and George Soros to be foolish. But someday, even Mr. Putin, or his successor, will bow to the Antichrist.

The Biden Administration loves a distraction as well. While cannons were blazing, he extended his national emergency powers, pushed smart health cards and vaccine passports, and continued to devastate the U.S. economy. The sky's the limit with gasoline and grocery costs. Leftist lunacy never lets a crisis go to waste. But how convenient if the people are focused on other things!

A Global Food Crisis?

But now that Russia has invaded Ukraine, should the war be extended, that is going to push this rapidly-growing global food crisis to a level that none of us have ever seen before. According to the U.N., worldwide food prices in February 2022 were 20.7 percent higher than they were in February 2021. Some are calling the potential food fall-out "catastrophic." Russia and Ukraine account for a substantial amount of the world's grain and fertilizer.

Due to a shortage of fertilizer, it is estimated that global crop yields could decline by 50%. Throw in the cost and rise of gasoline, and we have a frightful scenario ahead.

The words of Klaus Schwab are haunting. He stated some time ago that, "The Great Reset Needs a War." The Ukraine crisis could end abruptly with a surrender on the part of Mr. Zelensky. But, there is coming a conflict between China and Taiwan, and Iran and Israel, and North Korea is firing missiles into the air. As this is written, there are 40 wars around the world, although some are labeled as a "conflict."

Crash the System and Form Global Government

We are so late in the game that the world's Godless power brokers and global elite can think of only one thing: Global government. They will use any pawn in their game. They would like nothing better than for America to enter a war like the Ukraine conflict because then it would become a world war!

The international concern is that the next tactic will be a cyber-attack on a sovereign nation, even derailing the banking system. Out of those ashes will come a digital ID system. The ultimate goal of the one-worlders is to institute a new digital currency. That would give them ALL control.

In mid-March, Mr. Biden signed an executive order allowing for a U.S. central bank digital currency. This should shock and concern every American citizen.

It Ends Well for Believers but Not for the World!

All of this is a set-up for the Rapture of the Church, as the Church escapes the horrors of the Tribulation and its global government. It won't end well for the globalists, eventually. It will end gloriously well for believers.

The Church is restraining much present-day evil. That means that you and I are on a rescue mission presently. We are called to win the lost while there is time, and to occupy until He comes! What a privilege—and a challenge—to be born for such a time as this, as we see all things fall into place.

Join the Prophecy Roundtable “Live”!

Once or twice a month, join the roundtable live on YouTube and Facebook. Amir Tsarfati, Jan Markell, Pastor Barry Stagner, and Mike Golay discuss prophecy-related issues and take your questions live. Sign up for the e-newsletter of Behold Israel and be kept apprised of the dates! Go to the Home page at www.beholdisrael.org. They are always posted, post-roundtable, to our website

Most report to us that they can hardly keep up with all the news and information that breaks daily and hourly! Much of it has biblical implications. Much of what is happening is a reminder that the hour is late. With each presentation by these four prophecy leaders, a special topic is tackled and analyzed. Then, we invite your participation.

Are There Enemies Within the Church?

By Jan Markell

That may sound like a strange question and be a provocative headline. There is certainly false teaching in the church, but are there enemies within?

The Inconvenient Truth

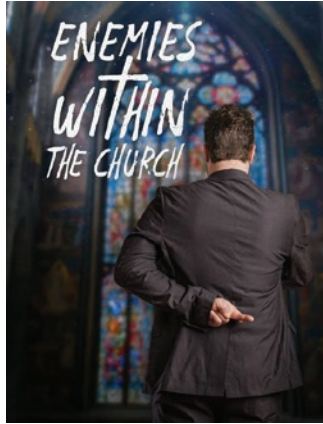

When I began my radio outreach in 2001, I knew I had to make a choice. I could talk about happy and uplifting issues which are always appropriate for Christian radio—and needed today—or go a step beyond and tell the truth about the world and church. In fact, tell an inconvenient truth.

I thank God that there are still dynamic churches that are preaching “the whole counsel”, are dealing with current issues, will address politics, and are excited that the King is coming. Sadly, they are in the minority.

Saving the Planet but Not Saving Souls

But, I am grieved that too many have become compromised, are now saving the planet but not souls, and are promoting the social gospel but not the salvation gospel. Many others will not tell their congregations that there are things God hates and so should we. Others are waving the rainbow flag so they can be inclusive.

And, those who promote such unbiblical nonsense are enemies within the church.

Some months ago, this ministry began carrying the DVD “Enemies Within the Church”, as it summarized these issues in just over two hours. I found it to be stunningly accurate, although it did name names of leaders and institutions that have declined in credibility in recent years.

Laodicea Is Here

It documents the growing left-leaning sentiment in the evangelical church promoted by such men as Russell Moore and Tim Keller. It reveals the rapidly-growing enthusiasm from leftists to get churches and denominations to embrace the gay agenda and leftist politics. And, while the Bible says that all men are created equal, in the last few years, emphasis from many pulpits has been to shame members for their “white privilege.”

Be it via smoke-and-light deafening-noise rock bands, or watered down seeker messages, or topics that are not spiritually productive and are, rather, compromised, parts of the church have become Laodicea.

The film examines some denominations, including the Southern Baptists, who have strayed from their historical, sound roots. Thankfully, many individual churches are holding to truth and pushing back against the foolishness.

Enemies Within The Church

Awakening to Wokeness

Summing it all up, many churches and denominations are awakening to wokeness, creating a heartbreaking ordeal for church members who cannot accept the new standards, liberalism, or focus on issues that are not gospel-centered. They are shamed for not being sensitive to racial injustice. They long for the emphasis on the old rugged cross and what must I do to be saved?

Some of this new and unsound approach began right after the George Floyd incident just twenty minutes from the Olive Tree Ministries' office, spring of 2020. A demise of stability and soundness in the church for the last thirty years, then accelerated in just two years, and left some churches unrecognizable.

The film reveals the subversive ideas, persons, and organizations who are enabling this new mood in the church and who are, thus, undermining the church and its foundation. There is a clarion call to reverse course, to feed the flock properly, and to equip the saints to be salt and light in these final days.

For Such a Time As This

How do I know all of these issues are valid? Because we have not had a response to a product like "Enemies Within the Church" for years! Some couldn't even define what had happened to their beloved home church until they viewed this production. It is a film for such a time as this.

Worth Quoting

Pastor Jack Hibbs, Calvary Chapel, Chino Hills, CA

I wouldn't be surprised if this is just the first of many aggressions that we will witness in the days ahead. I suggest that we keep a close watch on China, North Korea, Iran, and other countries that are undoubtedly waiting to see how the United States, aside from sanctions, will respond to Russia's invasion of Ukraine.

Most Bible commentators agree that Russia is the key player in a prophecy given in Ezekiel 38, wherein a confederation of nations, including Iran and Turkey, will attack Israel without provocation. Russia's latest posturing and saber-rattling, combined with its current military offensive in Ukraine, only lend more credence to the possibility of this ancient prediction coming to pass in the near future.

Wars and rumors of wars can be a frightening prospect to those who have no idea what's coming. But, for the Christian who has studied the Bible, the escalation of aggression we are seeing is just one more indicator that we are drawing closer to the end.

Jesus detailed many signs of the times to be looking for in the last days. In addition to the escalation of war, Jesus foretold the escalation of deception, betrayal, hatred, lawlessness, earthquakes, famines, and yes, even pandemics.

Hal Lindsey, Author and Commentator

Wars are always packed with tragedy and pain. But these days we see these things in a unique way. Cell phones double as motion picture cameras and audio recorders. Those mechanical eyes and ears connect to the internet.

All wars are tragic, but this time we can see war's tragedies in a more personal way than at any other time in history. And what we see—the sights and sounds from those Ukrainian cell phones—breaks our hearts.

We see the cruelty, the anguish, the fear, and the pain. There may have been times when you were so overwhelmed that you had to stop watching. I understand. It doesn't mean you're hardhearted. Just the opposite. It means you are able to empathize, and sometimes that becomes too much to bear.

As the days pass, more Christians find themselves praying with John in Revelation 22:20, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus!" We long for the Millennium, for a world made right by the rule of God the Son, the Prince of Peace. Those of us who know Him, know that we can trust His will. And where He reigns, His will prevails.

In times like these, may we consistently behave as commissioned representatives of His Kingdom—for our loved ones and for a desperate world.

Terry James, Author and Commentator

I was pleasantly surprised while clicking through the channels when I heard a program that was presenting a documentary that piqued my interest. It was on Daystar Television, and it featured a number of men and a couple of women talking about how true Bible prophecy is a dwindling topic in most all churches in America.

Those who addressed the matters involved were true Bible teachers, to be sure. They outlined precisely how the churches in America today are avoiding talk of prophecy and of Christ's return. Pastors, they correctly surmised, are most afraid that talk of the Rapture of the Church and of Christ's return and other prophetic topics will somehow interfere with "growing their churches."

How sad but true their collective assessments were. The closer the time comes for Jesus to return to earth and correct this horrendous mess Satan and his minions have made of the planet, the less preachers want to preach it, and the more many in the pews prefer not to hear about it.

I thought while listening—how true it is, the forewarning of Jesus Himself when He asked whether He would find faith on the earth when He comes back.

David Fiorazo, Broadcaster and Author

Two major problems should be of great concern to the church in America: The biblical worldview continues to rapidly decline, and a majority of people who claim to be Christian are not even close. God, truth, the Bible, and the Christian faith take yet another hit according to a brand new study from George Barna and the Cultural Research Center. But it's not quite a knock-out blow—yet.

The good news is parents still play a very significant role in helping shape their children's worldview. The bad news is only 2% of young parents today actually have a biblical worldview, so what are they passing along to their kids? America, we have a problem.

It's certainly a dilemma, but the brand new worldview study suggests it is highly unlikely that future children in America have a chance to grow up with any understanding of biblical morality and the Christian faith.

Dr. Dave Reagan, Author and Commentator

Whenever I present an overview of the signs of the times that point to the soon return of Jesus, I am often confronted by someone — often a professing Christian — who will say, “Come on David, these signs you are talking about have always existed in one degree or another, so what else is new?”

They will then proceed to point out that there have always been wars and rumors of war, there have always been natural calamities, and throughout history Christians have always been persecuted. Then comes the inevitable challenge: “Show me something really new and unique that clearly points to our day and time as the season of the Lord’s return.”

The challenge is understandable, but it is not entirely legitimate. That’s because Jesus said the end-time signs would be like “birth pangs” (Matthew 24:8). In other words, the signs would increase in frequency and intensity as the time draws near for Jesus to return. There would be more earthquakes, and more intense ones. Wars would be more frequent and more horrible in their degree of devastation.

And that, of course, is exactly what happened in the 20th Century. The signs began to increase exponentially in both frequency and intensity, and they continue to do so to this day.

Covid Is Not Going Away

The globalists always need a crisis! That is how they manipulate the world, cause government to expand, reduce the rights of the people, and implement their one-world plan. So, while other issues are causing a distraction now, digital vaccine passports and digital ID schemes are just ramping up globally.

The World Health Organization just released plans for global digital vaccine passports funded by Bill Gates and the Rockefeller Foundation. Those pushing for global vaccine passports are also the main proponents of The Great Reset—the one-world scheme of the World Economic Forum.

The marginalization against the unvaccinated may also be dying down right now as even the CDC is stating that the vaccines are a huge disappointment. However, expect some of the harsh measures to return after the mid-term elections this fall.

The World Has Changed—God Hasn't

(Note from Jan: As I was perusing the outstanding Christian online news website, Harbinger's Daily, I came across the following article. It is written by a Canadian, but it addresses problems worldwide. The author is a man named Samuel Sey. I am including it in this magazine, shortened just a bit due to print space limitations.)

Some of the events in our nation and around the world are tempting many of us to become anxious and afraid. After two years of suffering from COVID, restrictions, and vaccine mandates—because of Justin Trudeau's tyrannical actions over the last couple of weeks—many Canadians are more anxious and afraid than ever before.

Then Russia invaded Ukraine. The last time an invasion like that happened in Europe, it started WWII. Naturally, many of us are anxious this could be the beginning of another world war.

Big Trouble Ahead

Yes, 2021 was a difficult year, but 2022 is looking like it could be an even more difficult year. Inflation is higher this year than at any point over the last 30 years. The price for food and gas is getting worse. And there's no sign our bills will get less expensive.

In Canada, the federal vaccine mandates are still in effect, and there's no indication they will end anytime soon. Many Canadians hoped the Freedom Convoy would end all the vaccine mandates, but Justin Trudeau's tyrannical use of the Emergencies Act banned peaceful protests on the mandates and effectively shut down the Freedom Convoy.

Trudeau also froze bank accounts of protestors and people who donated to them, and he instructed police to arrest and detain protestors in Ottawa—including the organizer of the protest, Tamara Lich. She's been denied bail, and she faces up to 10 years in prison for organizing a peaceful protest that essentially half of Canadians sympathize with.

And in Ukraine

And significantly worse in Ukraine—millions of people are fleeing from their homes to seek asylum in neighboring countries like Moldova, Romania, Poland, Hungary, and Slovakia because of Vladimir Putin's apparent mission to restore the Soviet Union.

Ukrainian husbands, fathers, and sons have tearfully said their good-byes to their families as they prepare to fight for their lives, families, and nation. And many vulnerable Ukrainians are forced to hide in train stations and tunnels as the Russian army attempts to take over their country.

The World Has Changed—God Hasn't

The World Has Changed Forever, But God Never Changes

In just a matter of weeks, the world has changed. But according to the Bible, “Jesus is the same yesterday, today, and forever.” (Hebrews 13:8) Who He was in 2020 is who He was in 2021 and who He is in 2022 and going forward. The year won't be the same. The world won't be the same. People won't be the same. But praise God, Jesus will be the same.

God is still omnipotent; there is no one on earth more powerful than Him. He is still omnipresent: He is everywhere. He can hear the cries and prayers in Canada, Russia, Ukraine, America, and everywhere in the world.

God is still omniscient. He knows what we need before we even ask Him. He is still sovereign. He works all things—even tyranny, invasions, and wars—together for the good of those of us who are called according to his purpose.

Jesus is still faithful. He will keep His promises. He will return soon to establish His Kingdom on earth for a thousand years. God will then establish the New Heaven and the New Earth. He will wipe away every tear from our eyes, and death will be no more, neither will there be mourning, nor crying, nor pain anymore.

Jesus is still good and merciful: surely, goodness and mercy will follow us every day in 2022. Jesus is still gracious—He will forgive us of our sins.

Be Anxious for Nothing

So don't be anxious. If you're a Christian, Jesus is yours and you are His. “If God is for us, who can be against us? He who did not spare his own Son but gave him up for us all, how will he not also graciously give us all things?” (Romans 8:31-32)

If you trust Jesus for your life after death, then you can trust Him for your life before death, right? If you trust Jesus for your eternal life, then you can trust Him for your life on earth, right? This doesn't mean we shouldn't be concerned about what's happening. We should be praying for Vladimir Putin, Justin Trudeau, Joe Biden, Volodymyr Zelensky, and the rest of the world leaders.

Tyrannical and oppressive world leaders plot in vain. God isn't afraid of them—he's laughing at them. (Psalm 2: 1-4)

Is Digital Tyranny Coming?

By John Whitehead, Rutherford Institute

Is the Beast System Already Here?

This is what comes of those $1.5 trillion spending bills: Someone's got to foot the bill.

Because of the government's voracious appetite for money, power and control has grown out of control, its agents have devised other means of funding its excesses and adding to its largesse through taxes disguised as fines, taxes disguised as fees, and taxes disguised as tolls, tickets and penalties.

Make Way for the Digital Dollar

No matter how much money the government pulls in, it's never enough, so the government has come up with a new plan to make it even easier for its agents to seize Americans' bank accounts. Make way for the digital dollar.

In an Executive Order issued on March 9, 2022, President Biden called for the federal government to consider establishing a "U.S. Central Bank Digital Currency (CBDC)."

Similar to crypto-currencies such as Bitcoin, CBDCs would also be a form of digital money, but there the resemblance ends. If adopted, CBDCs would be issued by the Federal Reserve, the central banking system for the U.S. government. One CBDC digital dollar would equal the value of a physical dollar.

It's a Done Deal

And like the physical dollar, which ceased to be backed by gold more than 50 years ago, the CBDC would be considered a government-issued fiat currency that is backed by the strength and credit of the U.S. government. (Of course, that's not saying much considering that much of the time, the U.S. government operates in the red.)

Although government agencies have six months to weigh in on the advantages and disadvantages of a centralized digital currency, it's as good as a done deal.

For instance, three weeks before the Biden Administration made headlines with its support for a government-issued digital currency, the FBI and the Justice Department quietly moved ahead with plans for a crypto-currency enforcement team (translation: digital money cops), a virtual asset exploitation unit tasked with investigating crypto crimes and seizing virtual assets, and a crypto czar to oversee it all.

Is Digital Tyranny Coming?

A Global Trend

No surprises here, of course. This is how the government operates—by giving us tools to make our lives "easier" while, in the process, making it easier for the government to track, control and punish the citizenry. Indeed, this shift to a digital currency is a global trend.

More than 100 other countries are considering introducing their own digital currencies.

Orwellian Lack of Privacy

So, what's really going on here? Despite all of the advantages that go along with living in a digital age—namely, convenience—it's hard to imagine how a cashless world navigated by way of a digital wallet doesn't signal the beginning of the end for what little privacy we have left and leave us vulnerable to the likes of government thieves, data hackers and an all-knowing, all-seeing Orwellian corpo-governmental state.

Second, we're already witnessing how easy it will be for government agents to manipulate digital wallets for their own gain in order to track your movements, monitor your activities and communications, and ultimately shut you down.

Third, a government-issued digital currency will give the government the ultimate control of the economy and complete access to the citizenry's pocketbook. While the government might tout the ease with which it can deposit stimulus funds into the citizenry's accounts, such a system could also introduce what economists refer to as "negative interest rates."

Fourth, a digital currency will open Americans—and their bank accounts—up to even greater financial vulnerabilities from hackers and government agents alike.

Fifth, digital authoritarianism will redefine what it means to be free in almost every aspect of our lives.

Short of returning to a pre-technological, Luddite age, there's really no way to pull this horse back now that it's left the gate. To our detriment, we have virtually no control over who accesses our private information, how it is stored, or how it is used. And in terms of our bargaining power over digital privacy rights, we have been reduced to a pitiful, unenviable position in which we can only hope and trust that those in power will treat our information with respect.

The ramifications of a government—any government—having this much unregulated, unaccountable power to target, track, round up and detain its citizens is beyond chilling.

(NOTE FROM JAN: My thanks to John Whitehead and Prophecy in the News for this cutting-edge article. The Church Age is winding down gloriously fast.)
